() hat's a Midwest wine connoisseur to do when a trip to France—or even Napa Valley—just doesn't fit into the schedule or the budget? As good friends Annie and Laura found out, the answer is to follow the Uplands Wine Trail through South Central Indiana to some of the Hoosier state's incredible wineries.

Traveling from the north, Annie and Laura chose to drive to Nashville, Ind., for a good night's sleep before starting their wine tasting excursion. They checked into the Cornerstone Inn, and noted that the inn's

Their later arrival coincided perfectly with Cornerstone Inn's evening snacks served in the recreation room (which serves as the dining room during mealtimes). After some sweets, chips, cider, and hot chocolate, Annie and Laura called it a night and went to their rooms.

The inn offered homey touches: rocking chairs on the balcony, homemade lemonade, and a great view of the South Central Indiana hills. But what Annie and Laura enjoyed most were the journals in each room; every guest who stays at the Cornerstone Inn is encouraged to write something. Both enjoyed reading about couples celebrating anniversaries, friends visiting together, and others simply escaping their routines for a getaway. The journals made Annie and Laura wonder where these peoples' lives had gone from here.

For breakfast, Annie and Laura ventured out of the Cornerstone Inn and headed to the nearby Artists Colony Inn & Restaurant for a hearty meal of pancakes and oatmeal. Then, they hit the road (or the trail, to be more accurate) to Oliver Winery in Bloomington. Oliver Winery is Indiana's oldest and largest winery, opening to the public in 1972. In fact, founder William Oliver, who was a professor at Indiana University, wrote the Indiana Small Winery Act.

They saw visitors picnicking on the grounds with wine and cheese, enjoying the peaceful scenery.

While Annie and Laura found Oliver Winery's history interesting, they found its current status even more enticing. Stretching across 15 picnic perfect acres, the grounds and vineyards at Oliver Winery feature gardens, a waterfall, limestone sculptures, and a timber-frame tasting room. They saw visitors picnicking on the grounds with wine and cheese, enjoying the peaceful scenery. Both agreed that Oliver Winery is a must for gardening enthusiasts as well as wine lovers. The self-guided plant and flower tour offers plenty of great ideas to take home. After strolling the grounds, they headed to the tasting room, where they enjoyed light foods, including cheese, fruit, and fresh bread from Scholars Inn Bakehouse in Bloomington. And naturally, they sampled the dry, semi-dry, and semi-sweet wines Oliver Winery is known for, including its first wine to gain popularity, the Camelot Mead. While they sipped and snacked, the friends also enjoyed a feast for their eyes. The decor featured a mural by Bloomington artist Bill Zimmerman, a mosaic created by Diana Thornhill Miller of Fort Wayne, and forged-steel vines "growing" up beams.

After purchasing a few bottles to take home, Annie and Laura moved on to their next stop on the Uplands Wine Trail, Butler Winery and Vineyards, also in Bloomington. In fact, Butler has two locations: the winery and vineyard tasting room on the outskirts of town, and the in-town tasting room. Annie and Laura's tour, however, led them to the vineyard, and more incredible wines.

Butler Winery is Indiana's fourth oldest winery. Here, the philosophy has always been to use Indiana-grown grapes, based on the belief that wine is a reflection of the climate, the soil, and the people who grow those grapes. The wines Annie and Laura tasted were accompanied by cheese, crackers, and sausage. Weekend visitors can order pizzas, quesadillas, soups, and salads from the restaurant. Like most visitors, they walked through the vineyards and toured the production area. Both marveled at the beautiful mural in Butler Winery's tasting room. This art reflected the seasons, each season celebrating a different time of day.

They headed home with good wine and visions of elegant dinner parties to come.

Again, Annie and Laura each purchased wine to take home before moving onto their next stop on the Uplands Wine Trail, Carousel Winery in Bedford. Ironically, Bedford, in Lawrence County, is known for its beautiful Indiana limestone. But something else wonderful comes from the earth here: the grapes Carousel Winery owners Marion and Sue Wilson use to make many of their wines. Opened since August 2003, Carousel is one of Indiana's newer wineries. Here, Annie and Laura appreciated the wide variety, both in and out of the bottles. Each label features a different carousel animal.

Winemaking is an art; perhaps that's why so many Indiana wineries celebrate local artists. Carousel Winery sponsors a different artist every month by displaying that artist's work in the tasting room, and hosts a reception for that artist with tastings and hors d'oeuvres. Several local artists also sell their work in the gift shop.

Annie and Laura made a few purchases before departing for home. While the Upland Wine Trail features four more wineries, and Indiana has more than 30 throughout the state, the friends would have to explore them another time. In the meantime, they headed home with good wine and visions of elegant dinner parties to come.

LIKE MANY RESIDENTS OF BIG CITIES, SARAH AND RYAN WERE GREAT AT TELLING PEOPLE ABOUT ALL THE POINTS OF INTEREST WHERE THEY LIVE, BUT NOT SO GOOD AT VISITING AND ENJOYING THOSE PLACES THEMSELVES.

They realized they kept telling out-of-town friends about all the new things to do in Indianapolis, and then in the next breath explaining why they hadn't experienced them yet. So one weekend, they decided to change that.

A couple of days, a few phone calls, and an early Friday escape later, Sarah and Ryan started their downtown Indianapolis weekend. First stop: checking in to the Crowne Plaza Hotel, in the heart of Indy's Wholesale District. Located at historic Union Station, Crowne Plaza comes with built-in charm: 26 rooms are authentic Pullman Train Car sleeper rooms (updated, of course) sitting on the original tracks.

Theatre tickets meant the couple had to start dinner early, especially if they wanted to relax and enjoy their meal. So they quickly changed clothes and spent a little time at Circle Centre Mall before heading to the restaurant. According to Sarah, a little time at Circle Centre wasn't enough. She plans to come back for an entire day.

She'll need it. With more than 100 stores, including anchors Nordstrom and Parisian, Circle Centre is a shopper's paradise. More than 30 restaurants, a movie theatre, and GameWorks Studio mean shopping is only part of the fun.

To preserve their "theatre clothes" on a hot June night, the couple took a taxi to Massachusetts Avenue, or "Mass Ave" as it's known to residents, for dinner at Elements, Mass Ave and the Wholesale District are two of Indy's six cultural districts. Each of these areas, which also includes Broad Ripple Village, Fountain Square, Indiana Avenue, and The Canal & White River State Park District, puts a unique spin on Indianapolis' cultural and entertainment experiences.

The Wholesale District, with superb shopping and dining destinations, tests credit cards and willpower. Fountain Square is "vintage Indianapolis," with a 1950s soda fountain and diner, and duckpin bowling, all located within The Fountain Square Theatre building, which has been restored to its 1928 glory. Broad Ripple hums with exciting nightlife and fun and funky boutiques. Indiana Avenue is the historic African-American commercial, entertainment, and worship center. The Canal & White River State Park District is where you'll find many of the city's family destinations. And Mass Ave is known primarily for its art galleries, performing arts theatres, and one-of-a-kind restaurants, such as Elements.

Sarah and Ryan found the Elements menu diverse, which made choosing difficult for both of them. Many items featured Indiana products as ingredients, making them even more enticing.

Next on the couple's itinerary: the Indiana Repertory Theatre, for a one-man show called "The Male Intellect: An Oxymoron." This particular show was presented on the IRT Upper Stage, which has a smaller, more intimate feeling than the main stage.

After the show, Sarah and Ryan weren't guite ready to call it a night, and headed to South Meridian Street and its bars and clubs. As they got closer, they could feel a sort of "buzz" picking up downtown, and noticed a lot of people outside talking or walking from club to club.

Sarah and Ryan chose a bar called 6 Lounge & Restaurant, and arrived early enough to get a table. After relaxing for a while, the couple walked back to their hotel.

The next morning brought the call of "more to see," so Sarah and Ryan checked out of their hotel and headed for White River State Park. They parked and went for a walk along the canal to the USS Indianapolis Memorial.

Sarah and Ryan noted that to fully experience the park, they'd need yet another weekend downtown. Along with the USS Indianapolis Memorial, several noteworthy destinations are all within walking distance along the canal, including the Indianapolis Zoo, White River Gardens, the NCAA Hall of Champions, the Indiana State Museum, the IMAX Theater at the State Museum, baseball at Victory Field, and the Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art. While White River State Park isn't the typical "camping and hiking" destination, it's not without its outdoor fun. During the summer, top-name entertainers perform at this outdoor venue.

Eventually, Sarah and Ryan headed back to the Sky City Café at the Eiteljorg for a light lunch before heading home.

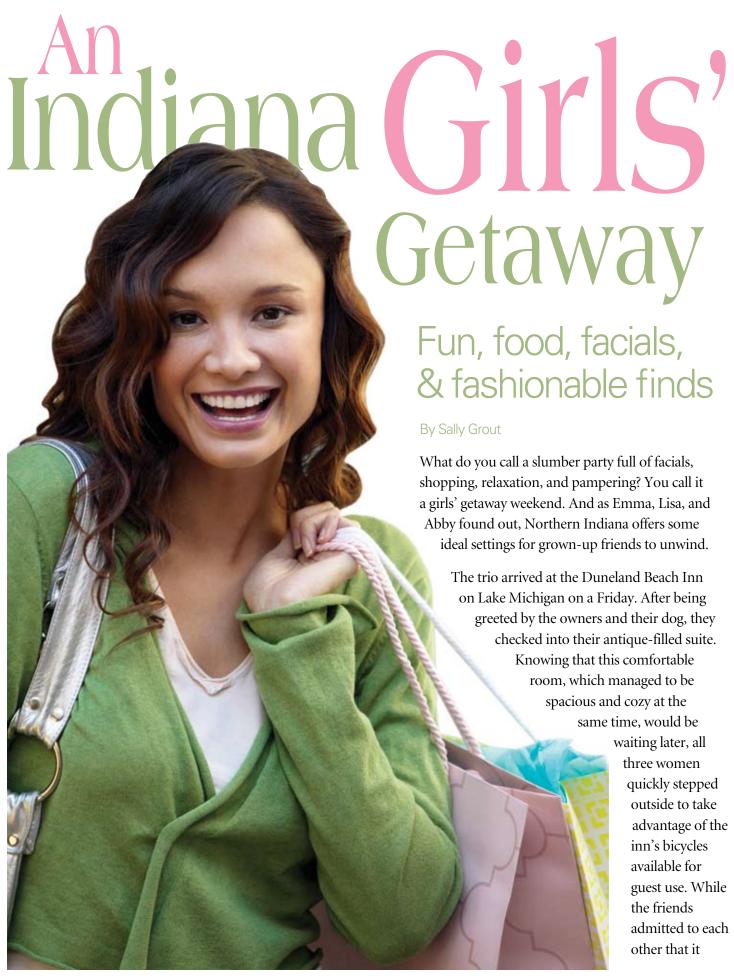

And while Sarah and Ryan hated to see the trip come to an end, they both looked forward to Monday morning for one reason: they couldn't wait for someone to ask them what they did over the weekend. << had been awhile since any of them had ridden a bike, they quickly found their "bike legs" and pedaled the short trip to Lake Michigan to take in the view. Lisa had to remind herself that she was, in fact, looking at a lake; the white-capped waves and white sand made it feel more like an ocean. Feeling energetic, the friends pedaled through the surrounding neighborhood before parking the bikes back at the inn and going to lunch.

Their next stop was Bridges Waterfront Cafe, also in Michigan City. The open air restaurant is located, as the name indicates, on the water. After eating, relaxing, and, naturally, more talking, they departed for one of Indiana's true hidden treasures: International Friendship Gardens in Michigan City.

The more than 100 acres of International Friendship Gardens have a special mission: to create a botanical environment that promotes world friendship through ethnic gardens, and enhances the lives of visitors by artistic, musical, and nature-related educational programs. Emma, Lisa, and Abby found it inspirational and breathtaking. They spent more than an hour wandering the gardens, taking in the flowers representing different countries, the bridges and streams, and the statues from other nations symbolizing cultures and customs. Each friend had a different favorite area of this picturesque place, but all found the same word to describe it: peaceful.

The friends headed back to the room to paint toenails, read magazines, freshen up for dinner, and then left for Cafe L'amour in LaPorte.

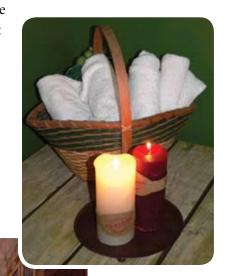

This unique restaurant had a past life. Once a bank, today it's a romantic restaurant filled with Victorian charm and vintage antiques. The girls were treated to a tour of the building before sitting at their elegant table with a traditional white tablecloth and floral centerpiece. As they waited for their meals, they admired an incredible mural that depicted a Victorian era setting of people dining. When the food arrived, the waiter gave them a little inside scoop on the upstairs balcony area: it's a very popular spot for wedding proposals. After dinner, the friends stepped next door to the bistro, called Etropal (LaPorte spelled backwards) for coffee.

After eating, relaxing, and, naturally, more talking, they departed for one of Indiana's true hidden treasures...

Happily tired from a day of exploring and eating, the friends headed back to the Duneland Beach Inn for more conversation and, eventually, sleep. They awoke to yet another incredible meal. Breakfast at the inn included fresh fruit, coffee, sausage, and made-to-order pancakes, both chocolate chip and blueberry/ banana. Feeling like they should hop back on the bikes to burn off breakfast, the three ladies instead bid their hosts goodbye, checked out, and went to their appointments at Great Escape Spa & Art Shop in Michigan City.

The spa provided the girlfriends with the ultimate pampering experience. First, they shopped among the beautiful paintings, hand-painted furniture, handmade jewelry, soap, candles, and other artwork that filled the entrance. Then they began a rotation where one friend received a facial, one got her massage, and the third continued shopping. Both the facial and massage rooms were dimly lit with candles and had soft, relaxing music playing in the background. (There's also an outdoor massage tent, complete with an outdoor shower and garden, along with the indoor rooms for facials, massages, and other spa treatments). Faces, bodies, and souls refreshed, the friends agreed that the spa, and its mandatory escape from ringing phones and demanding e-mails, was wonderful.

Of course, what's a girls' getaway without some serious shopping? Before they could leave the area, they stopped at Lighthouse Place Premium Outlets in Michigan City.

After a quick slice of pizza, they picked up the available coupon book and dug into the clothing, home appliance, shoe, gadget, purse and other stores, including Coach, Crate and Barrel, and more. Everyone found something they needed or wanted, making this a successful trip. With the trunk full, everyone rested, and memories made, they stopped for one last treat, ice cream, and left for home.

Guys' Day Out

By Greg Seiter

They were four men on a mission... each a loving husband and father in desperate need of some good old-fashioned male bonding.

This particular Saturday had been unofficially deemed "guys' day out." Paul, Dean, Alex, and Greg had every intention of taking full advantage of the opportunities before them, no matter the weather or unexpected obstacles they might face.

Fortunately, the sun shone brightly that early October morning as the men eagerly made their way north on Interstate 65.

As they approached West Lafayette's Coyote Crossing Golf Club's course, they were welcomed by periodic teasing glimpses of knowing they were about to play Indiana's 2005 Course of the Year, as recognized by the National Golf Course Owners Association.

They set their sights on...the evening's intrastate football clash between two nationally-ranked powerhouses...

rolling terrain and clusters of mature timber that cautiously guarded hidden creeks. This was their first visit to the 18-hole public facility, and though they had yet to even sample its modest driving range, the foursome shared a collective but unspoken sense of pride in

Their designated tee time was 10:32 am, but not even a 20-minute delay was enough to dampen their spirits or those of the foursomes waiting in front of or behind them. In fact, unsolicited advice by the course starter on Hole No. 1 helped pass the time.

"Watch those greens out there, boys. They're playing really fast," he advised.

The 175-acre course, boasting five sets of tees on every hole, proved to be every bit of the challenge the guys expected it to be. As the guys concluded the round, they set their sights on Purdue University in anticipation of tailgating and the evening's intrastate football clash between two nationally ranked powerhouses—Purdue's Boilermakers and the visiting University of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish.

Ross-Ade Stadium was clearly in view as they turned onto Cherry Lane and parked among the seemingly endless sea of tailgaters, the majority of which donned various combinations of Purdue black and gold.

From aisle to aisle and row to row, the men walked for several minutes while taking in the celebratory sights and the aroma of barbequegrilled foods. Finally, they found the Chuggernauts; self named, these are some of Purdue's most dedicated fans. They were tailgating at their Lot T location parallel to Beering Drive. Their site was easily identifiable—featuring a combination of three tents with the black and gold Purdue insignia, a Chuggernauts banner, and a Purdue flag striped with black and gold in an American flag pattern, proudly waving in the late afternoon air.

Famished after the adventure at Coyote Crossing, they were concerned their late arrival at the tailgating festivities might limit their dinner options. The opposite occurred: the guys were warmly greeted by other tailgaters, who quickly directed the four to a wide assortment of beverages, chips, and standard cookout cuisine.

The highlight in Greg's mind, however, were oven-heated mini-pizzas that were customized to each person's specifications. Greg opted for standard pizza sauce, strips of chicken, mushrooms, pepperoni, and areen peppers smothered in cheese for his main course of the evening.

Following an enjoyable social period with the Chuggernauts, they made their way over to the stadium. Two game tickets and a pair of press box passes forced the foursome to temporarily separate as a group. Dean and Greg elected to immerse themselves in the crowd assembled in the nearest end zone grandstands, while Alex and Paul opted for the press box seats.

Notre Dame quarterback Brady Quinn meticulously shredded the Boilermakers' secondary, taking the Irish to a 28-0 halftime lead.

A pre-planned seating swap allowed Alex and Paul to experience fan-to-fan contact during the second half as Dean and Greg helped themselves to complimentary hot dogs, beverages, and dessert, while watching from above.

The second half proved to be no better than the first for Purdue fans on this particular day, as the Irish rolled to an easy 49-28 victory over the 22nd-ranked Boilermakers.

Despite the Boilermakers' loss, the men agreed that their day had been a success. With their mission accomplished, they headed for home.

the town's eight-day Circus City Festival in July.

To arrive on time for the Saturday morning parade, the Greilings left their home around 7 am. Because this was summer in Indiana, their route was dotted by flea markets, yard sales, produce sales, and, naturally, gorgeous Indiana landscapes.

Arriving in Peru at 8:45 am, they were able to stake out shaded curbside seating for the parade before heading to Deb's Diner for breakfast. They enjoyed the local flavor that infused the diner; everyone in the family got a kick out of the sign that read, "Prices vary with customer's attitude."

At 10 am, the parade began with a steady stream of circus sights and sounds. The family watched as steam calliopes, horses, circus wagons, acrobats, clowns, and elephants marched and performed their way down the street. All of the excitement led 11-year-old Megan to declare this her favorite parade ever, while her 7-year-old brother Nathan said that he liked the elephants best.

With a couple of hours to pass before the start of the actual circus show, the Grielings explored the carnival area, riding on the rides and enjoying the summer festival food. Before they knew it, it was time to head to the big top.

When they arrived, they explored a museum filled with circus memorabilia at the back of the center. Next, they found their seats, and it wasn't long before Dewey the Clown found them for some pre-performance fun, which involved a little finger-pulling and horn-honking.

As the show began, the Greilings were impressed with the remarkable talent and showmanship of these performers, all part of the internationally acclaimed Peru Youth Circus. One of the most gasp-inducing moments: an aerial pyramid performed by several girls on the high wire. This particular trick has never been performed anywhere else. In addition to the wonderful acts they saw, the family enjoyed the circus band's performance.

When the show was over, the Grielings headed home, tired and happy from their sight, sound, and food-filled day.

While the festival cranks the circus fun up a notch, the Circus Hall of Fame is open from May through October and the Professional Big Top Circus performs all summer. Tours are available of this National Historic Landmark. Peru has earned recognition as home to the Grissom Air Museum State Historic Site, home of more than 20 historic aircrafts, an observation tower, and indoor displays.

Another Indiana community northeast of Peru, Auburn, is known for a fine attraction and a festival that celebrates it. Here, beautiful Auburn, Cord, and Duesenberg automobiles were once designed, built, and sold locally. ## Challenging, exhausting, and incredible

By Sally Grout

Memorial Day Weekend, 2005. While 33 drivers raced their way around the famed oval track at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, four friends finished their trip around a different Indiana loop: the Adventure Hiking Trail in the Harrison-Crawford State Forest.

The complete Adventure Hiking Trail is one of Indiana's longest backpacking experiences. Measuring 27 miles in length, the trail takes hikers to natural cliffs overlooking the Ohio River, Blue River, and Indian Creek. Those who follow its path may also see the karst landscape, caves, sinkholes, and a wide range of plants and wildlife.

With plans to get a few miles under their belts (and their feet) Friday evening, Kole, Brian, Matt, and Justin headed out from the trailhead around 6 pm. Just to keep things interesting, they chose to follow the trail from its end back to the beginning. After about four miles night started to fall, so the hikers pulled out their headlamps.

→They hiked another couple of miles across the up and down terrain before setting up camp around 8:30 pm.

equipment, it also underscored a pending problem: lack of water. In fact, the map the guys suggested "stashing" water near areas where the trail crossed roads.

Friday night brought what sounds like a nightmare to those who don't camp: rain.

Nighttime around the campfire meant planning for tomorrow's hike. The closest thing they had to a GPS system was a map and a 1983 plastic watch, so they wanted to make sure they had the hike well thought out. (Actually, their map suggested that all hikers should travel with a compass, and know how to use it.) Also on the evening's agenda: comparing, and a little bragging, about who had the newest and greatest equipment. While one lost points for his satellite dish sized headlamp, another won for overall gadgetry with his new-since-the-lasttrip French coffee press.

Along the trail, some shelters are available on a first come, first served basis, and these campers were able to utilize one that came complete with a log cabin style hut and a fire pit fit for a king. Primitive camping is also allowed along the trail, with some restrictions.

Friday night brought what sounds like a nightmare to those who don't camp: rain. However, for these veterans, it lulled them to sleep and prepared them for the next day's adventure. Saturday morning arrived hot and sunny, which helped dry off gear soaked during the nighttime downpour. While the sun dried the used warned that sources of water are limited along the trail, particularly during dry periods. The map also

So they headed out—dried off, loaded up, and ready to go as far as their legs could take them. By one in the afternoon, the guys agreed that the trail is a challenging one. Still, they were making good time and decided to stop for lunch. Non-campers would have been surprised at the buffet that came out of the backpacks. Along with the obligatory beef jerky and granola bars, they ate dehydrated goulash and no-cook crab salad. They conserved water since they would not be able to refill until they reached the Blue River.

Shortly after six that night, they reached the riverbanks, which was particularly important to those who were down to their last drops. Getting to the river meant hiking down a cliff to fill up, and then right back up to the trail. At this point, the guys were so tired they contemplated setting up camp on the riverbanks and allowing themselves to be dinner for the mosquitoes. Nevertheless, they headed back up to the trail, found the energy to cover another couple of miles, and set up camp.

Another night, another chance to review the map and plan for tomorrow. At this point, the hikers realized they only had about eight miles left before they got back to the trailhead. Since they packed enough food for an extra day, they decided to cook up a dehydrated version of a six-course meal, which included Pad Thai, miso soup, beef stroganoff, lasagna, Apple Brown Betty, four different cheesecakes, and a banana bar.

Day three brought more good weather, and the chance to hike at a good pace. They covered the last eight miles as they did the first 16: moving quickly, talking little, and taking in the incredible views. While these "serious hikers" managed to cover the entire trail in a couple of days, other hikers at various skill levels will find 10 shorter day trails within the Adventure Hiking Trail. Ranging in lengths from one-quarter mile to two miles, with descriptive names such as the Wyandotte Trail, the Cliff Dweller Trail, the White Tail Deer Trail, and the Rocky Ridge Trail, these shorter trails are perfect for an afternoon excursion.

By mid-afternoon, the hikers climbed up the last hill and looked down the path to see the car. Exhaustion was setting in, but they felt an adrenaline rush as they tossed their walking sticks back to the woods and got closer to unlacing their boots and slipping into flip-flops.

By the end of the trip, the four friends were hungry, thirsty, tired, dirty, and sweaty. And as they drove out of the park, they all agreed: they want to strap on their backpacks and do it again. Soon.

INDIANA DEPARTMENT OFNATURAL RESOURCES

Maat Mother Nature
Up Close!

Did you promise yourself and your family that you would use all your vacation time this year? Have you been meaning to join the growing bicycling set, get a GPS unit and become a geo-cacher, or just get in shape this year?

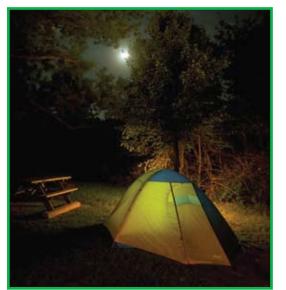

Awaiting you are state parks, reservoirs, forests, fish and wildlife areas, historic sites, and more. Mentally and physically refresh yourself, every day. You can fish, hike, boat, swim, learn, play, rest—and these are only a few options of an endless list.

Experience Indiana's historical and cultural heritage. Watch for 90th anniversary events at state parks. Thousands of fun and educational activities are planned and most are free with the general admission fee to the parks. Get the whole story at interpretiveservices.IN.gov.

Several new mountain bike trails at Brown County, Versailles, and Spring Mill state parks extend the existing biking terrain at state reservoirs and forests to more than 70 miles. Two of the longest trails (22-plus miles) are at Roush Lake in Huntington County. Spring Mill State Park even has bikes available for rental.

Two multi-day touring rides visit state natural resources properties each year. In June, Touring Ride in Rural Indiana (TRIRI) offers a week-long camping excursion for as many as 500 riders, while the fall Escapade ride involves journeying from one state park inn to another. Both offer baggage handling, "sag" service, great food, and fellowship.

If it has wheels and a motor, bring it and ride!

Actions definitely speak louder than words at Redbird State Riding Area near Dugger. Trails are set up for all skill levels, including a youth motorcycle trail. Vehicles need to be registered as either off-road by the DNR or as street legal by the BMV to play here.

Stay the night with new, improved, and unique camping and lodging! In addition to the seven state park inns and more than 8,600 traditional campsites, there are family cabins, group camps, and even horsemen's, fishermen's, and canoe/backpack specialty campsites. Enjoy new campgrounds at Indiana Dunes and Prophetstown state parks, as well as full hook-up sites at Charlestown State Park. Family cabins are great for family reunions. Group camps are ideal for youth and church groups. Clifty Inn near Madison is showing off a multi-million dollar renovation, including new rooms and suites, restaurant, and conference facilities.

Top off Your Indiana Adventure up North

Imagine sand dunes piled high as meringue on an Amish pie, thriving big cities, friendly mid-sized towns, and quaint farming villages—all topped off with historic locations at every turn, a football hall of fame, a 1,000-vendor flea market, a wild whitewater raceway, and a lengthy toboggan run. The North Region will keep you busy all year round.

Agritourism – Bordeaux and Buffalo

The largest table grape planting in Indiana provides Anderson's Orchards & Vineyards (Valparaiso) a whole bunch of grapes for its wines, jellies, and jams. Tour the vineyard and cellars, spend some time in the tasting room, and stop off at the bakery (just follow your nose). Near Fremont, see nearly 200 buffalo roam on 400 acres of rolling Indiana prairie. Wild Winds Buffalo Preserve offers ranch tours from the back of a horse or in a tractor pulled wagon.

Arts and Culture – East Meets West

Shiojiri Niwa, a Japanese strolling garden celebrating the sister city relationship of Mishawaka and Shiojiri City, Japan, contains more than 200 large boulders, 20 plant varieties, statuary, and a teahouse. According to legend, you can elude your evil spirit by crossing the zigzag bridge. In the heart of Amish Country, the Menno-Hof Center (Shipshewana) explores the central beliefs of the 16th century Anabaptist movement involving the Amish, Mennonites, and Hutterites. Multimedia presentations and 24 display areas help you appreciate how their history and lifestyle have evolved. Looking for a bit of Broadway? You're never more than 10 rows from the stage at Wagon Wheel Theatre (Warsaw). This 800-seat theatre-in-the-round features plays, musicals, and concerts. See the plays of yesterday performed by the stars of tomorrow.

Girlfriend Getaways – Kick Back and Relax

On the banks of Lake Maxinkuckee, the Culver Cove Resort & Conference Center (Culver) offers spacious luxury condominiums—every one with a lake view. Enjoy the private beach, heated pool, sauna, Jacuzzi, and workout room—plus lake activities galore.

For great shopping,
try the Old Bag Factory (Goshen). The merchandise ranges
from antiques to quilts, candles, pottery, jewelry, and sculpture produced by the many on-site artisans. A weekend in Amish Country could include a visit to Amish Acres (Nappanee), where you'll enjoy the complete Amish heritage experience. Tour the farmstead, shop for handmade crafts, or take in a show at the Round

Barn Theatre. Nearby in Shipshewana, favorites include the Mousetrap Puppet Theater, Blue Gate Restaurant, and wooden toy handcrafting at Riegsecker Marketplace. Or plan a whole day for shopping at Michigan City's Lighthouse Place Premium Outlets, home to 120 designer and name brand retailers.

Sports and Entertainment – It's All in the Games

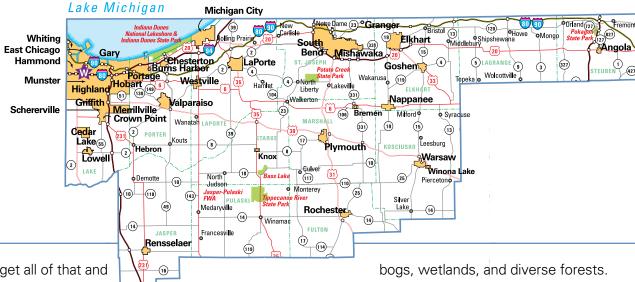

Gridiron greats are honored at the College Football Hall of Fame (South Bend), Relive historic moments on the field, from the legend of Notre Dame's George Gipp to Boston College's "miracle" pass for the win by quarterback Doug Flutie. Like the links? At the U.S. Golf Academy at Swan Lake Resort (Plymouth) you > can choose from a five-hole executive course, a par three short course, or two championship 18-hole courses. Stay and Play packages let you enjoy the game and the resort's amenities. The Gary Southshore RailCats take to the field all summer long at the new U.S. Steel Yard. The RailCats stadium ranks as one of the top minor league ballparks in the country.

Family Fun - Cool Beans

Receive a greeting from a three-foot-tall animated cocoa bean. Be amazed by a 1,300year-old Mayan chocolate pot.

You'll get all of that and free samples at The South Bend Chocolate Company's Chocolate Museum. Enjoy chocolate treats made fresh daily, ready to melt in your mouth while you tour the factory. Spend a day in Angola, home to the 50-year-old Fun Spot Amusement Park & Zoo. Rides, a zoo, a huge arcade, and plenty of treats will fill your whole day. In Lake County, Deep River Waterpark (Crown Point) includes the Dragon, a slide that drops straight down where you could hit speeds of 35 mph. Tackle lots of other slides and tube rides for a perfect wet and wild day together. Wintertime flies by on the toboggan run at Pokagon State Park (Angola). Then spend a night around the fire, or in the sauna, at the Potawatomi Inn.

Outdoor Recreation – Happy Trails to You

Bicyclists in LaPorte County will find 20 bike loops totaling 420 miles. All are well-marked and well-maintained, sending you through parks, small towns, and the county's many attractions. Vast sandy beaches along the Lake Michigan shoreline are lined with towering dunes at Indiana Dunes State Park and Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore. The two areas stretch from Michigan City to Gary. Paved hiking and biking trails will take you past

Set up camp at the foot of a cool, 180-foot tall sand dune after a day at the beach. Find perch, Chinook salmon, or steelhead trout with the help of professional sport fishing charters available at the marinas along the lakeshore. East Race Waterway, South Bend's artificial whitewater course, is one of only six in the world. The 1,500-foot long course hosts national whitewater slalom races. Rent a kayak or bring your own. The course is designed for both beginners and advanced whitewater challengers.

Head to Indiana's East Region for a Garden of Delights

Personalities portray the range of Indiana's East Region. Actors James Dean and Carole Lombard were born and raised here. It was home to the nation's first successful female nature author and photographer, Gene Stratton-Porter. This is where late night TV host David Letterman spent his college years and cartoonist Jim Davis inks his Garfield comic strip.

Just as diverse are the small towns, urban areas, lakes, prairies, and wooded retreats. You'll find hundreds of opportunities to discover the variety of attractions and points of interest all around Indiana's East Region.

Agritourism - A Mighty Wind

Indiana's farming history comes to life in the East. In the early 1800s, Hoosiers began harnessing the power of the wind to pump water, separate wheat from chaff, and churn butter. At the Mid-America Windmill Museum (Kendallville) more than 20 restored windmills are on display. The Huddleston Farmhouse Inn Museum (Cambridge City) completed in 1841, features a three-story home, a barn, smokehouse, and springhouse all restored to recreate the original Huddleston family's to re-create the original Huddleston family's 78-acre farmstead and traveler's respite. Hitch-up your own wagon and head into the small town of Farmland. Restored shops from the late 1800s line the main street. Experience the same relief our ancestors felt—escaping 16-hour farm workdays for the magic of a day of shopping, sipping sodas, and telling tales till the cows come home.

Arts and Culture – Classic Cars and Gardens Galore

Delve deep into Swiss settlers' life in 1850 at the Swiss Heritage Village & Museum (Berne) with 12 restored village buildings and a nature center. Nearby Amishville U.S.A. skirts the Wabash River astride rolling meadows. Celebrate the rich heritage of Amish families while touring the restored farm home, slowly cruising on a buggy ride, and feasting on a true Amish Country harvest buffet. The Auburn Cord Duesenberg Museum's (Auburn) collection of Indiana-manufactured classic cars is displayed in the original 1930s art deco Auburn Automobile Company showroom. Cars from 1890 to the "Jazz Age," to the "60s muscle cars" have been lovingly restored. Surround yourself in nature at the Foellinger-Freimann Botanical Conservatory (Fort Wayne). The Showcase Garden features lush seasonal display. The Tropical Garden's orchids and palms cluster around the cascading waterfall, and the Desert Garden's prickly cacti provide a glorious range of flora, fauna, and fun. The largest private collection of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia, along with interactive exhibits and biographical film presentations, help bring the remarkable man to life at The Lincoln Museum (Fort Wayne).

Girlfriend Getaways - Miles and Miles of Aisles

For a road trip you'll remember (and want to repeat), start by wandering the 70 stores and restaurants at the upscale mall Jefferson

Pointe (Fort Wayne). You want it? They've got it. Next, meander down and around Indiana's famous "Antique Alley." Trail One has more than 900 antique dealers along the Historic National Road, including Webb's Antique Mall (Centerville). Or take Trail Two on US 27, which includes the 66,000-square-foot Jay Garment Antique Mall (Portland). Then stop and smell the roses and hundreds of other flowers and plants covering the six acres of Oakhurst Gardens at the Minnetrista Cultural Center (Muncie). The galleries at the center feature fine art and area historical exhibits along the banks of White River.

Sports and Entertainment – On and Off the Fast Track

To truly understand what makes Indiana tick like a game clock, head to the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame (New Castle) celebrating high school boys and girls basketball in this interactive—you shoot, you score—museum of hardwood history. Then off to the track—for harness and thoroughbred horse racing at Hoosier Park Race Track (Anderson) featuring seasonal races and year-round televised racing. Or grab a seat in the stands and watch the next Tony Stewart find the guickest way around at Winchester Speedway (Winchester)—billed as the "world's fastest half-mile" in auto racing. Watch them slide and bump and spin and win.

Family Fun — Lions and Tigers and Chimps

Inside, outside, and all around the East Region, find family fun including Black Pine Animal Park (Albion), a sanctuary for rescued, rehabilitated, and retired exotic animals. Meet (up close, but safely) lions, tigers, chimps, bears, monkeys, and more. The Muncie Children's Museum lets you climb Burnettsville inside and eyeball and cavort with Garfield —all exhibits are hands-on fun to stimulate a child's curiosity. Muncie also is home to the National Model Aviation Museum, with the largest collection of model aircraft in the United States. In the summer, Academy members test and race their aircraft on the adjacent 1,000-acre flying site. Then it's all aboard the CKS Railroad (Knightstown) for a nostalgic ride over the river and through the woods to Carthage and back. The Fort Wayne Children's Zoo includes Indonesian Rainforest, Australian Adventure,

Outdoor Recreation — Take a Hike or a Leap

The East's five state parks and forests include Chain O' Lakes State Park (Albion). Here, eight connecting lakes are perfect for paddling, swimming, fishing—and just sitting to watch the sunset. Boat rentals are available along with more than 400 campsites. Along the Eel River and following the abandoned Pumpkin Vine Railroad, you can stroll, run, bike, or in-line skate on River Bluff Trail (Logansport). The 10-foot wide, paved trail covers 1.2 miles of scenic woods and three river-crossing bridges. And if you really like feeling your heart in your throat, jump out of a plane and hit speeds up to 130 mph—till your chute opens at Skydive Wayne County (Richmond). A little training leads to a whole lot of fun.

It's Playtime Day and Night in Indiana's Central Region

Home to the roar of racing engines and the giggle of children sifting through a pretend fossil pit, Indiana's Central Region has more than you can imagine. With renovated theatres and elaborate sports arenas, it's where ethnic restaurants and Victorian bed and breakfasts combine with four-star hotels and famous steak houses. Central Indiana offers canal walks, bicycle greenways, and vibrant downtown streets leading you to unique and wonderful adventures ahead.

Agritourism - Grazing in the Grass

Milton and Irene Beasley bought a farm near Danville in the mid 1940s and started planting an orchard and a little garden. Today's Beasley Orchard & Gardens has become one of the Central Region's favorite destinations for U-pick and freshly grown produce. Their fall hayrides, pumpkin picking patch, and fresh-pressed apple cider are not to be missed. Do naturally raised and grazed cows give tastier milk? You be the judge at Traders Point Creamery (Zionsville). On 140 acres of natural grass pasture, happy cows munch and moo. Learn about this return to a natural approach in farming while tasting their non-homogenized, hormone and antibiotic-free creamline milk. Other natural products include butter and ice cream. The creamery is open every day with a special all-organic, locally grown meal served on Fridays. The tasting room is open daily.

Arts and Culture – Sense of Styles

Live music and theatrical performances abound in and around downtown Indianapolis. Historic Hilbert Circle Theatre features the internationally acclaimed Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. The 87-member orchestra performs 200 concerts each year. Interactive exhibits bring Indiana's history to life at the Indiana State Museum in White River State Park. From the birth of earth to the 21st century—more than 400,000 artifacts have quite a story to tell. Just next door, one of only two Native American and Western art museums east of the Mississippi resides. The Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art

showcases a vast array of work by contemporary artists alongside a huge Native American art collection including pottery, basketry, sculpture, and paintings of the American West. The museum's 45,000-square-foot expansion features the Sky City Café, education center, gardens and terrace, and new galleries.

Girlfriend Getaways - Just Relax

Immerse yourselves in the Water Garden Suite at Lumiére du corps Spa & Wellness Resort (Zionsville). This private retreat will pamper you from head to toe. Stay overnight in the guest suites and enjoy hot stone massages, facials, and much more on the 29 tranquil, beautifully landscaped acres. Nearby Clay Terrace lifestyle center mall (Carmel) offers the latest in upscale shopping along with excellent dining options. On the north side of Indianapolis, the Fashion Mall boasts a Saks Fifth Avenue, Williams-Sonoma, Pottery Barn, Crate and Barrel, and many more upscale retailers. Downtown Indy's Circle Centre Mall is four floors covering two city blocks with shopping, dining, and movies galore. Then tour the village of Broad Ripple. You'll find quaint shops, ethnic restaurants, and hot night spots. Massachusetts Avenue (Mass Ave to the locals) is Indy's arts and theatre district. Its trendy galleries, music venues, and even more unique dining options create a girls-getaway that could last (if only) forever.

Sports and Entertainment – All Pros, No Cons

Watch the pros from great seats in Indy's nationally recognized arenas. The Indianapolis Indians play at one of the best minor league baseball stadiums anywhere—Victory Field. If you're a basketball fan, Conseco Fieldhouse is home to the Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever. And under the RCA Dome comes the roar of the crowd as the Indianapolis Colts run and pass their way to another victory. For motor sports, no facility is as famous or holds bigger crowds than the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Indianapolis is also known as the "Amateur Sports Capital of the World." Hundreds of events happen here every year. And Indy is home to the NCAA national headquarters, where the NCAA Hall of Champions celebrates student athletes with state-of-the-art interactive exhibits. Just 20 minutes southeast of Indy, Indiana Downs' beautiful facilities feature thoroughbred and harness racing, along with satellite coverage of other racing events across the country. Every new day in the Central Region brings great choices in spectator sports for the whole family.

Family Fun — A Whole Week Full

You enter the giant Plexiglas dome and all around you dolphins frolic. It's amazing. And this is just one of the premier exhibits at the Indianapolis Zoo—all part of White River State Park (Indianapolis). Just 30 blocks north of Monument Circle you can encounter dinosaurs, dig for fossils, and discover a whole lot more at one of the largest facilities of its kind in the world, The Children's Museum of Indianapolis. It's easily a whole day of play (and a whole lot of learning) for everyone. At Conner Prairie Living History Museum (Fishers), the 1830s come to life in a re-created village and farm, with costumed interpreters sharing their life stories and values. Finish off your Central Region visit with a long, wet plunge down the slides at Splash Island (Plainfield), a water park on three tropically themed acres.

Outdoor Recreation – Happy Trails

Take to the urban greenway year-round. The Monon Trail, running 15-plus miles from near downtown Indy to Carmel, welcomes joggers, strollers, in-line skaters, and cyclists on this popular urban and suburban path. For those so inclined to golf—look no further than Central Indiana. Each county features public courses that encourage you to swing for that hidden green. Try The Fort Golf Resort (Indianapolis), Purgatory Golf Club (Noblesville), The Trophy

Club (Lebanon), Heartland Crossing (Camby), and The Legends of Indiana (Franklin). For water and woods, Eagle Creek Park, west of Indianapolis, has trails, a swimming beach, and sailing with a 1,400-acre lake and 3,900-acre wooded park. Rent a boat, drop a fishing line in the lake, or hike the trails in search of the many deer and hundreds of native and migratory birds.

World-class attractions, performing arts, abundant shopping, exciting sports, historic monuments and much more await you in Indianapolis There is more to see, more to do, more to experience in Indy than you ever imagined. Come visit, and learn why we say it is "so easy to do so much!"

So Easy to Get Around

Indianapolis is the 12th largest city in the country, yet it is virtually effortless to get to and around the city.

More than half the nation's population lives within a day's drive of Indianapolis, making it an easy and affordable destination for a weekend getaway.

Navigating the city is a breeze. Your feet can take you just about any place in our convenient, connected and deliberately designed downtown. Skywalks link more than half of downtown's hotel rooms to Circle Centre mall, a four-story shopping, dining and entertainment megaplex. Restaurants, attractions, shopping and nightlife are all located within easy walking distance.

So Entertaining

Attractions, museums, performing arts and much more abound in Indy, offering unique experiences that will create lifelong memories! Whether it's the two largest single-day sporting events on the globe (Indianapolis 500, Allstate 400 at the Brickyard), the largest children's museum in the world (The Children's Museum of Indianapolis) or one of the largest general art collections in the country (Indianapolis Museum of Art), you'll find it in Indianapolis. But there's more.

Indianapolis is experiencing a cultural explosion, fueled by millions of dollars in investments at major institutions, and the city was recently ranked as one of the top 25 arts destinations in the country. The Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra performs more than 200 concerts each year, ranging from classical Tchaikovsky in the elegant Hilbert Circle Theatre to patriotic and big band sounds at Conner Prairie. During its September-May season, the Indiana Repertory Theatre (IRT) welcomes energetic musicals and Shakespearean classics among a variety of other productions. The Indianapolis Artsgarden, breathtakingly suspended over a busy downtown intersection, is your one-stop resource for city information and everything artistic and cultural in the city. Free programming is scheduled throughout the year at the Artsgarden, including live performances, art exhibits and concerts!

Visit www.indyarts.org or call 317-631-3301 for detailed information on the arts and public art in Indianapolis.

So Much to Do

Downtown's attraction-filled White River

State Park is home to a diverse collection of venues, featuring the newly expanded Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art,

the Indiana State Museum, IMAX Theater, NCAA Hall
of Champions, Victory Field (home of the AAA Indianapolis Indians) and the Indianapolis Zoo, home to the only underwater dolphin exhibit of its kind in the country, and the new exhibit of meerkats from South Africa. Stroll down the Central Canal through the park and revel in art of all kinds, including impressive sculptures from local artists, dramatic architecture and beautiful fountains.

Venture just north of downtown, in the Broad

Ripple cultural district, and discover the dramatic marriage of art and nature in ARTSPARK at the Indianapolis Art Center.

The scent of plants, the look of sculptures and the discovery of mazes and paths combine to create a rich sensory experience for visitors. While in Broad Ripple, browse its collection of eclectic art galleries or enjoy its public art displays.

Further north, explore Indiana's past at Conner Prairie, a living history museum where it is 1836 every day of the year.

Some would say that sport is an art form in Indianapolis. Racing traditions run deep in Indy, including the Indianapolis 500, NASCAR's

Allstate 400 at the Brickyard, MAC Tools

U.S. Nationals (the richest drag racing event in the world) and the Formula One U.S. Grand Prix. And that's just racing!

Indianapolis is also home to the NFL's Indianapolis Colts, NBA's Indiana Pacers, WNBA's Indiana Fever and AAA baseball's Indianapolis Indians. Indianapolis also is frequent host to NCAA events, including the prestigious Men's and Women's Final Four.

So Accommodating

Indianapolis puts out the welcome mat at more than 28,000 guest rooms in nearly 200 hotels within the metro area. Whatever your needs, from stunning suites to affordable accommodations to beautiful bed & breakfasts, Indy has it. In all areas of the city, you will find hotels that vary in size, luxury and economy representing all the brands that you know and trust. But no cost is spared on service. From the front desk clerk to the housekeeper, hotel employees are at your service. To book your hotel online, visit www.indy.org or call one of our travel counselors at 1-800-238-INDY for assistance.

So Inviting

Indianapolis has created the perfect balance of big city variety and a friendly, inviting atmosphere. In Indy, we take your visit personally. Our warm greetings and genuine smiles exude the hospitality that makes us famous. Couple that with our clean, safe surroundings and you have a leisure traveler's utopia. Discover our inviting city and all the extraordinary experiences Indianapolis has to offer.

Plenty of Beautiful Room to Roam out West

A great university, picturesque counties covered with bridges, lakes, state parks, roller coasters, water slides, and plenty of history all come together in Indiana's West Region.

Agritourism – Waterwheels Grind Away

Early Indiana settlers found abundant fertile ground for planting. The trick was turning the corn and wheat into marketable products. Two restored gristmills used for this purpose include Bridgeton Mill (Bridgeton) and the Mansfield Roller Mill (Mansfield) on Big Raccoon Creek. Prophetstown State Park (Battle Ground) is a prime example of an Indiana prairie with a Native American village and the 1920s Wabash Valley Living History Farm as part of Indiana's newest state park. View Big Raccoon Creek, which flows into Cecil M. Harden/Raccoon Lake and then out again on its way past Mansfield Roller Mill.

Arts and Culture – Diverse and Delightful

Beryl Griffith, a Welsh potter, began Clay City Pottery (Clay City) in 1885. Four generations later the Griffiths are still spinning the potter's wheel. Original glazes and local clay are used to produce an array of stoneware—all by hand.
American painting and sculpture from the late 19th and early 20th century are exhibited in historical Italian Renaissance styled Swope Art Museum (Terre Haute). Works by Thomas Cole, Andy Warhol, Grant Wood, and Edward Hopper are included in the collection.

General Lew Wallace's life and works are celebrated in his Crawfordsville home—now a museum displaying memorabilia as a soldier, statesman, artist, governor, violinist, inventor, and author of the novel, "Ben-Hur."

Girlfriend Getaways — Let the Spirit Move You

Re-energize and reflect with a variety of retreats at the Providence Center (Saint Mary-of-the-Woods). Two-day programs feature non-denominational, welcoming respites that allow you to step back and renew. In Greencastle, Commercial House Bed & Breakfast offers superbly renovated loft style rooms. Nearby is the Victorian Day Spa and Hair Salon (Greencastle), which offers facials, massages, and whirlpool baths.

Sports and Entertainment – A Collegiate Cornucopia

West Region's large universities and small colleges offer a wonderful range of spectator sports. Purdue, Indiana State, Rose-Hulman, Saint Mary-of-the-Woods, DePauw, and Wabash all feature action-packed collegiate sports programs. For speed fans, Terre Haute's Action Track is one of America's premier short dirt tracks featuring midgets, modifieds, and motorcycle racing. Hulman Links Golf Course in Terre Haute has hosted PGA events for nearly 30 years and is open to the public. Or challenge your foursome in West Lafayette at Hale Irwin Golf Design's Coyote Crossing, Golf Digest's pick as Indiana's number one course.

Family Fun – Indoors, Outdoors, and Through Doors

Terre Haute's Children's Museum encourages handson interaction by helping children learn to explore and appreciate the world of science and technology. Indiana Beach (Monticello) brings together five roller coasters, six water slides, live entertainment, and plenty of dining options. The largest saltwater aguarium facility in the world, Inland Aguatics (Terre Haute), is dedicated to research and commercial reproduction of ornamental marine fish, hard and soft coral, and other saltwater-related flora and fauna. View the undersea world without learning to scuba.

Outdoor Recreation – Paddles, Pontoons, and Off-road Parks

Rent a canoe from Sugar Creek Canoe Trips (near Turkey Run State Park) offering one-hour, four-hour, eight-hour or overnight trips. On 700 acres at Badlands Off Road Park (Attica) ride your ATV, dirt bike, or Jeep year-round on the sand dunes, pea gravel hills, and through "bottomless" mud pits. Cecil M. Harden Lake (Rockville) has plenty of camping options, when you're all "fished out." Rent a ski or pontoon boat from Raccoon Boat Rentals and explore this 2,000-acre lake from a comfy, slow-moving seat or a bouncing inner tube—or both.

Glaciers Created South Central's Natural Beauty

What made these rolling hills and miles of rivers that cover Indiana's South Central Region? A massive glacier pushed earth into undulating hills as it slowed to a crawl—millions of years ago. Today's visitors will appreciate all that hard work with every twist and turn of the byways and back roads in the South Central Region.

Agritourism - Mum's the Word

In 1970, Gordon and Nancy Elsbury started a U-pick strawberry patch and roadside vegetable stand. Today you'll find how hard work and big dreams can pay off—at Elsbury Greenhouses (Hope). Their 70,000 square feet of greenhouses produce 60,000 fall mums, a million bedding plants, 150 herb varieties, and a whole lot more. Take the tour, hear their story, and pick out a few plants for your own garden of dreams. Herbs also are central to historic Stream Cliff Herb Farm's success (Commiskey). Tour the themed gardens, take in a gardening seminar, and browse the garden and craft shops. Then enjoy a cup of tea or a meal at the Twigs & Sprigs Tearoom. Fall's Old-Fashioned Pumpkin Harvest Days at Coyote Creek Farm (Florence) is a popular way to see the sights of this local Indiana farm. Spring and summer also showcase antique farming equipment, a petting zoo, candle dipping demonstrations, and gem mining. Country-style breakfasts and dinners are perfect respites before you enter the "Swiss-Sonian" museum or take a mini-train ride 'round the farm.

Arts and Culture – A Visual Treasure Trove

An original Picasso, a Gutenberg Bible, and a moon rock are among the items on display in Bloomington's many museums. Indiana University's Art Museum holds 35,000 objects including some by Picasso and Monet. The Hoagy Carmichael Room contains this Hoosier composer's memorabilia. Also on campus, the Lilly Library's 400,000 rare books and 100,000 pieces of sheet music reside alongside a rare Gutenberg Bible. Travel 'round the world at the Mathers Museum of World Culture, with exhibits from Australia to Zimbabwe. In Rising Sun, Harps on Main sells, services, and celebrates this enchanting musical instrument with First Friday concerts every month. Dubbed "the Athens of the Prairie" for its unique architectural styles, Columbus offers one and two-hour escorted tours of this world-renowned city. Since the early 1900s many artists have thrived in nearby Brown County (Nashville) known as "The Art Colony of the Midwest." Numerous area galleries display their work. You can even watch it being created over their shoulders at the many vistas, valleys, or lakeside spots in the "Hills o' Brown."

Girlfriend Getaways - Back and Forth in Time

Begin a whirlwind weekend along the banks of the Ohio River in Madison. Tour restored riverfront mansions, visit specialty and antique shops, and find history everywhere you turn. Have a taste at three Madison area wineries. Try and buy the many wine varieties at Lanthier Winery, Madison Vineyards, and The Thomas Family Winery. Or relax with a 50-minute massage, cleansing facial, and pedicure at the Belterra Casino Resort & Spa (Belterra). Enjoy dinner at one of the four on-site restaurants, golf on the Belterra 18-hole course, Vegas-style gaming, and live entertainment nightly. Or bounce back a century to the Gasthof Amish Restaurant & Bakery on the grounds of Gasthof Amish Village (Montgomery). Overlooking quiet Indian Rock Lake, the Amish decor in the rooms is as soothing as the Amish delights at the restaurant and bakery. Nearby shopping options include village flea markets and area gift boutiques.

Sports and Entertainment – Go Big Red

National Championship banners (five of 'em) hang high at Indiana University's famed Assembly Hall (Bloomington)—the home to IU basketball since 1971. Join the crimson-covered crowd to cheer on another set of champions. In the history of basketball, nothing rivals the scrappy squad at tiny Milan High School (Milan) whose collective true grit won the state high school crown in 1954. A museum celebrates their unparalleled year with photos, artifacts, and memorabilia. Grand Victoria Casino & Resort (Rising Sun) provides a complete casino experience including live entertainment in the 1,100 seat auditorium, plenty of dining options, and a Scottish links style golf course.

Family Fun — Down Under, Downhill, and Around

Float underground at Bluespring Caverns Park (Bedford), a subterranean tour for the whole family. Or rent a pontoon boat on Lake Monroe and swim, fish, and float under the sun. A pioneer village with a working water wheel gristmill is just part of Spring Mill State Park (Mitchell). The Spring Mill Inn (1937), built from native materials including Indiana limestone, provides a year-round welcome to guests. Have to fly to ski? No need. Perfect North Slopes (Lawrenceburg) has 17 trails, a 400-foot vertical drop, and night skiing. Rent what you need, take a quick lesson, and away you go!

Outdoor Recreation — Extreme Fun for All

"A blast" is the common expression for off-roaders at Redbird State Riding Area (Linton). With 600 acres, this state-run facility welcomes jeeps, ATVs, dirt bikes—pretty much anything with a motor and a rider willing to take on the hills and trails for lots of thrills. For those more inclined toward a leisurely pace, Jackson County's round barns showcase the ingenuity of the 19th century. Near Nashville, Brown County State Park (Indiana's largest) offers canoeing on two lakes, hiking or biking on a variety of trails, and plenty of camping spots on the 16,000 acres of beautiful hills and valleys.

Decatur and Jennings Counties

Looking for extreme adventure? We host a variety of adventures guaranteed to tantalize your wild side - skydiving, scuba, kayaking, canoeing, rock climbing, boul-dering, mountain biking, and hiking. A little too wild? Try our softer side ... golf, bird and wildlife watching, our forests, parks, nature preserve, or our national wildlife refuges. Want to relax and just get away? Venture into our quaint small towns. Shop in our antique stores, and dine in our restaurants. Visit our covered bridges. See our courthouse with the tree growing out of its tower! Interested in agriculture? Try our farm markets or choose a Christmas tree from one of our many tree farms or a pumpkin from our pumpkin patches! Tour a restored round barn or sample the delicacies at the Stream Cliff Herb Farm. Antique tractors? Visit the Power of the Past and celebrate agricultural heritage. Our festivals celebrate everything from railroad heritage to the tower tree! You'll find some of the finest regional art and good old-fashioned county fairs. Lodging options abound. Relax, replenish, or extreme rush...Decatur and Jennings County!

Columbus: Architecture, Family Fun, Gardens, and Parks

People from across the nation visit Columbus and experience architecture, the great outdoors, landscaping and gardens, and family fun. The city is ranked sixth in the U.S. for architecture innovation and design by the American Institute of Architects and has more than 70 buildings and pieces of public art by internationally noted architects and artists, including I.M. Pei, Eliel Saarinen, Richard Meier, Harry Weese, Eero Saarinen, Dale Chihuly, and Henry Moore. The city was named to the 2005 list of Dozen Distinctive Destinations in the United States by the National Trust for Historic Preservation and was selected in 2004 as one of the Ten Most Playful Towns in America by Nick Jr.™

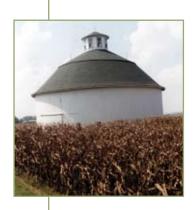

Family Magazine. Families can enjoy the festivals, museums and playgrounds, including symphonic and pop music, ethnic cuisine and culture, and many more fun activities.

Indiana State Fairgrounds

With more than $40 million in recent capital improvements, the Indiana State Fairgrounds has undergone dramatic changes that have made it one of the most attractive and flexible special event destinations anywhere. Located on East 38th Street on Indianapolis' northeast side since 1892, the Fairgrounds is one of the most well-known landmarks in the state, annually attracting roughly 2 million visitors to more than 300 events. The Fairgrounds' showcase event, the Indiana State Fair, is the sixth oldest state fair in the country dating back to 1852, but a variety of other annual events attract thousands of visitors, including:

- Indianapolis Home Show
- Indianapolis Boat, Sport & Travel Show
- Indiana Flower & Patio Show
- Hoosier Horse Fair and Expo
- Fall 4-Wheel Jamboree Nationals
- Christmas Gift & Hobby Show
- Junior League Holiday Mart

The Fairgrounds' Pepsi Coliseum is home to the Indiana Ice of the United States Hockey League and provides a perfect venue for public skating, youth hockey leagues, concerts, seminars, and other activities.

Traveling to or through Indianapolis in your RV? The State Fairgrounds can hook you up to water, electric, and sewer services for as long as you plan to stay. For more information, contact:

Along the River and Through the Woods Down South

Two big rivers, one huge national forest, and history aplenty come together in Indiana's River Country. From the big city attractions in Evansville to easy-to-explore antiquing villages like Historic Huntingburg, discover history and natural beauty in Indiana's South Region.

Agritourism – Lincoln's Boyhood Farm

In the South Region, agriculture takes many forms. At Huber Orchard & Winery (Starlight), every season brings something new to savor. Sample an array of wines, stock up on produce, and find fresh-baked breads. The Lincoln Boyhood Home, a National Historic Landmark in Lincoln City, has been re-created with a cabin, outbuildings, and rangers in period clothing completing the same farming tasks Lincoln performed from 1816 to 1830. At Wilstem Guest Ranch (Paoli), you can overnight in one of several cabins, go horseback riding, or visit the cattle ranch.

Arts and Culture – See Stars Everywhere

In 1803 in Clarksville, Meriwether Lewis stopped to pick up William Clark at his cabin overlooking the river. Thus began their historic exploration of the western United States. Further downriver, the Evansville Museum of Arts, History and Science offers a day full of opportunities to see, touch, and learn with extensive interactive exhibits. West Baden Springs National Historic Landmark, constructed in 1902, features a massive domed roof five stories above the interior lobby. Let dinner and Broadway take the stage at Derby Dinner Playhouse (Clarksville).

The playhouse has long been an area favorite for sumptuous suppers prior to the curtain's rise.

Girlfriend Getaways - Just Follow the River

Grab a group, drop the convertible top, and head off for a weekend tour along the banks of the mighty Ohio River. Cruise the Ohio River Scenic Byway—stretching east to west from Jeffersonville to New Harmony. Along the way, stay in Cannelton at the Castlebury Inn, an 1867

rivertown Victorian hotel. Next, head to Mary Rose Herb Farm & Retreat (Bristow).

Sports and Entertainment – Chip Away at History

In 1946, The Old Capital Golf Club (Corydon) opened—with sand greens. You don't have to clean up after your putts anymore because all 18 holes have been redesigned—with grass greens! At historic Bosse Field in Evansville, AAA baseball team, the Otters, take to this 1915-era field of dreams. Orange County's French Lick Resort surrounds mineral springs, lush gardens, riding stables, golf, and indoor and outdoor tennis courts.

Family Fun — The Water Flows Underground

More than 200 years ago, Squire and Daniel Boone discovered two huge caverns. Above ground, Squire Boone Village celebrates these pioneers and their daily tasks. Tour the caves, dip a candle, pan for gold, and mine for gemstones at Squire Boone Caverns & Village (Mauckport). Holiday World & Splashin' Safari (Santa Claus) features the brand-new wooden roller coaster, The Voyage, with a 173-foot lift hill, underground tunnels, and three incredibly fast drops. Evansville's Mesker Park Zoo & Botanic Garden is Indiana's oldest zoo, with 600 animals displayed on 50 acres.

Outdoor Recreation – Can You Canoe?

Blue River meanders through Southern Indiana and so can you. At Cave Country Canoes (Milltown), create your package to include canoeing, caving, or both. Observe river otters, great blue herons, and sunning turtles along the banks and towering limestone bluffs. Mountain bikers love the 200 miles on the main Hoosier National Forest trail through Dubois, Perry, Crawford, and Orange counties. Fossils and footprints more than 350 million years old are embedded in the 220 acres of limestone flats at the Falls of the Ohio State Park (Clarksville). Quite simply, it's amazing.
